

Breitbart Protégé

Alex Marlow was hired by Andrew Breitbart at 21 and, by 27, was leading Breitbart.com. He's been at the forefront of new media, shaping major stories and the industry.

Culture Warrior

Raised just outside Hollywood, Marlow embodies Breitbart's belief that culture drives politics. He has fearlessly covered cultural battles and become part of that landscape.

Champion of the Individual

A lifelong limited-government conservative, Marlow argues today's challenges go beyond left vs. right. Powerful corporations, global institutions, and party establishments threaten personal freedom and individuality — forces he believes must be resisted.

Expert on Media and Big Tech

Under his leadership, Breitbart News has exposed establishment media and Silicon Valley power brokers. His book Breaking the News shares insights from this work.
